Privacy Statement
One in Him Foundation Int.

Version 1.0 | Prepared on October 13, 2026 | Effective date October 14, 2026

1 Who we are

At One in Him Foundation International, we handle your personal information with care. This statement explains what we collect, why we use it, how we share it and the choices available to you.

One in Him Foundation International is a US charitable organization recognized as tax-exempt under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. It is responsible for the processing described in this statement.

Correspondence address: Ruimtesonde 19, 3824MZ Amersfoort, the Netherlands.

Email: info@oneinhimfoundation.com.

Website: oneinhimfoundation.com/en/.

This statement covers our website interactions, donations, requested materials and communications, and any events, mission trips or volunteering for which the US organization is responsible. The Dutch foundation, Stichting One In Him Foundation, is a separate legal entity. Its own privacy information applies when it is responsible for an activity or donation. Forms and campaigns identify the responsible organization.

2 What data we receive

We receive data you provide yourself, for example through a donation, registration, order, job application or contact form. We also receive necessary data from our payment and registration services, such as a payment status or registration confirmation.

Depending on your contact with us, this may include your name, email address, telephone number, address, request, chosen activity and correspondence. For donations, we also process information such as the amount, frequency, payment date, donor number and relevant payment or direct debit details. Card payments are processed by the payment provider.

For a mission trip, additional information may be needed, such as your date of birth, necessary travel document details and an emergency contact. We request it only when needed to organize your trip. Please inform the person you name as your emergency contact. We use that person's data only to prepare for emergency assistance or in an emergency.

When you visit our website, technical data may be processed, such as your IP address, browser and pages visited. The data processed also depends on your cookie choices.

3 Why we use your information

We use personal information to:

Process donations and recurring partnerships, provide acknowledgments, resolve payment issues and maintain appropriate financial records.

Deliver requested books or guides, process registrations and provide practical information about activities for which we are responsible.

Answer questions and provide an information series you have requested. Such a series stays within the subject and scope of your request.

Send newsletters and general email marketing where you have separately opted in.

Organize volunteer activities and assess job applications, where relevant.

Protect systems, prevent misuse and handle complaints, integrity concerns and privacy requests.

Comply with applicable legal obligations and establish, exercise or defend legal claims.

We collect only what is reasonably needed for these purposes. If we propose an incompatible new use, we provide the information and obtain any consent required before starting that use. Where the GDPR applies, the legal bases for these activities are described in Section 13.

4 Newsletters and automated messages

Making a donation, placing an order or taking part in an activity does not automatically subscribe you to our newsletter. As our organizational policy, we request a separate opt-in for general email marketing. You can withdraw it at any time through the unsubscribe link in an email or by emailing us.

We may send confirmations, payment notifications and practical messages about your own request, donation or participation without a newsletter subscription. These messages remain limited to that relationship or request.

Where used for our activities, ActiveCampaign and Make help process registrations and communication. An automated workflow does not give us additional consent to send other marketing. Where we tailor communication to preferences you have provided, we do so within the scope of your consent.

We do not use religious or health information to create advertising audiences. We do not use email opening or click behavior for individual marketing profiles without explaining it beforehand and obtaining consent where required.

Our promotional emails identify us and provide contact details and a clear unsubscribe option. We honor unsubscribe requests promptly and no later than ten business days, or sooner where applicable law requires. We retain only the minimum information needed to respect your choice.

5 Sensitive information and personal stories

Information about religion or health is sensitive. We keep recording it to a minimum and do not automatically infer your personal religious beliefs from a donation or website visit.

If we need such information, for example health information for safe participation in a trip, we explain beforehand what is needed, who will receive it and how long we will retain it. We obtain explicit consent for voluntarily supplied health information and for publishing a personal faith testimony. Any processing without consent must have a specific lawful justification under the applicable rules. Where the GDPR applies, both a legal basis and an applicable exception for special category data are required.

You may withdraw consent. This does not affect the lawfulness of processing that took place before withdrawal. We explain the consequences if the information is necessary to organize an activity safely.

Please do not submit extensive medical information or other sensitive data through ordinary contact forms. If we need that information, we agree on an appropriate way for you to provide it.

6 Photos videos sponsorship pages and children

Photos and videos may be taken during events and trips for which we are responsible. We inform participants beforehand about their purpose and intended use. We request consent for identifiable portraits, interviews and personal testimonies. Participation does not give us general permission to publish your story.

For general event images, we assess whether the proposed use is lawful and appropriate. We consider the context, whether people are identifiable and any sensitive information. Where the GDPR or another applicable law requires additional consent or safeguards, we arrange them before publication.

For a mission trip participant's sponsorship page, we agree in advance on the name, photo and text to be made public. We do not publish contact, payment or health information. For identifiable publications involving minors, we obtain appropriate parent or legal guardian permission, take the child's wishes into account and follow the applicable age and consent rules.

Our online donation and newsletter forms are intended for adults. For activities involving minors, a parent or guardian should contact us so we can explain the relevant arrangements. We do not knowingly collect information directly from children through those online forms without appropriate arrangements. If you believe a child has provided information improperly, contact us so we can assess and remove it where appropriate.

To discuss a publication or withdraw consent, email us. We assess the request and stop further use that relies on withdrawn consent. We cannot fully undo distribution by third parties.

7 Who we share information with

We do not sell personal information for money, rent donor mailing lists or exchange donor mailing lists with other organizations. We share only information needed for a stated purpose. Depending on the service used for our activities, providers may include:

- Donorbox and Stripe for donations, payments and recurring contributions.
- ActiveCampaign and Make for contact management, requested information and automations.
- Google Workspace and Exact for collaboration, communication and administration, where used for the US organization.
- Eventbrite for registrations made through that platform.
- Acutrack and, for relevant international shipments, ChannelDock for processing and delivering materials.
- Our website administrator and hosting provider: Savvii

For a trip or other activity, necessary information may be shared with a transport provider, accommodation provider or local organizer. We identify relevant recipients and international transfers when preparing the activity.

Providers acting on our instructions receive contractual requirements appropriate to their role and the applicable law. Some providers, such as payment services fulfilling their own legal obligations, act independently for part of their activities. Their own privacy information also applies to that processing.

The Dutch foundation and other affiliated ministries do not automatically receive access to your information. We share with them only for a specific purpose, with an appropriate legal basis, required safeguards and clear responsibilities. We may also disclose necessary information to competent authorities where legally required or where lawfully needed to protect people or address a legal claim.

Some advertising-related disclosures may be classified as a sale, sharing or targeted advertising under particular state laws, even without a monetary payment. Any such technology must be covered by the specific disclosures and choices in Section 10 before it is activated.

8 International processing

Our international work and service providers may involve processing in the United States, the Netherlands and other countries. We assess the protection and contractual arrangements needed for the processing and applicable transfers.

For transfers of information subject to the GDPR from the European Economic Area to a recipient outside it, we use an applicable adequacy decision or appropriate safeguards, such as the European Standard Contractual Clauses, together with the required assessment and supplementary measures where needed.

For a US service provider, the EU US Data Privacy Framework may be used only where that provider has an active certification covering the relevant processing. We do not claim that One in Him Foundation International is itself certified under that framework.

You can ask us which safeguards apply and how to obtain a copy. For activities involving overseas partners, we provide relevant transfer information during preparation.

9 How long we keep information

We keep information for as long as reasonably needed for its stated purpose, applicable legal obligations or necessary legal claims. We then delete or anonymize it. Our organizational retention schedule is:

Information	Retention period
Ordinary financial records and donation evidence	Generally 7 years after the end of the relevant financial year as our organizational policy. Longer legal, audit or legal-hold requirements take precedence.

Contact details used to manage a partnership	Throughout the partnership and for no more than 24 months after it ends, unless retained separately as necessary financial evidence.
General questions and information requests	No more than 12 months after completion.
Event registrations and general mission trip information	No more than 24 months after completion. Financial evidence is retained separately.
Health information and copies of travel documents for a trip	Deleted no later than 1 month after the trip, or earlier when no longer needed, subject to necessary incident or legal requirements.
Newsletter information	For as long as you remain subscribed. Newsletter use stops when you unsubscribe.
Evidence of consent	While it is used and generally no more than 5 years after withdrawal to address a complaint or dispute, unless a longer period is legally necessary.
Job application records, where applicable	Generally 1 year after the record is created or the hiring decision is made, whichever is later, or longer where applicable employment law or a legal hold requires.
Volunteer information	During the working relationship and for no more than 24 months after it ends, subject to necessary legal or safeguarding records.

Core governing documents and tax-exemption records are kept permanently as organizational records. This does not justify keeping unrelated personal information indefinitely.

After you unsubscribe, we keep a minimal suppression record for as long as needed to prevent renewed marketing contact. For complaints, integrity reports and legal disputes, we keep only what is necessary and review that need after closure. A legal hold may temporarily prevent deletion of relevant records.

We review photos, videos and personal stories at least annually for continued necessity and validity of consent. Consent specifies the agreed purpose and period of use. Technical data and cookies have their own limited periods, stated in our cookie information.

10 Cookies advertising and external content

Our website uses cookies or similar technologies. Necessary functions and limited analytics may operate without consent where the applicable law permits. We request prior consent for tracking, advertising or external content where required by law and follow our stated cookie choices.

The cookie information identifies the technologies actually used, their providers, purposes, retention periods and any advertising-related sharing. You can review and change choices through the cookie statement and cookie settings. You can use the website without agreeing to optional tracking.

Where we use Meta, Google or other advertising services, the relevant information and choices are provided before activation. We do not upload donor contact lists for advertising audience matching. Where a disclosure qualifies as a sale, sharing or targeted advertising under applicable state law, you can opt out through the privacy settings or by emailing us. We honor legally recognized opt-out preference signals, including Global Privacy Control, where the applicable law requires.

Some browsers offer a separate Do Not Track setting. We do not treat that setting as a substitute for your cookie choices or legally recognized opt-out signals. For help with your choices, contact us.

11 Security and automated decisions

We take appropriate technical and organizational measures to protect personal data. We limit access to what someone needs for their role and establish arrangements for confidentiality, security and the use of systems. We review these measures when our activities change.

We do not make decisions based solely on automated processing that produce legal effects or otherwise significantly affect you. An automated confirmation or email series is not such a decision. Decisions about participation in a mission trip are assessed by people.

Do you suspect loss, misuse or unauthorized access to data? Please let us know at info@oneinhimfoundation.com.

12 Your choices rights and contact details

You can contact us to ask what information we hold, request correction, discuss deletion or change your communication preferences. Depending on your residence, the law and its applicability to our organization, you may also have rights to access, obtain a portable copy, restrict processing or opt out of a sale, sharing, targeted advertising or certain profiling. Where applicable law provides a right to obtain information about specific recipients, we provide it subject to the relevant conditions.

Send a request to info@oneinhimfoundation.com or write to our correspondence address. We verify identity proportionately and do not routinely ask for a copy of an identity document. Where applicable law permits an authorized agent to act for you, we accept a properly authorized request and may verify the authorization.

We aim to respond within 30 days and always follow the applicable legal deadline. If a permitted extension is needed, we notify you as required and explain why. If we deny a request, we explain the reason and any available appeal rights. Where the law provides an appeal, email us with Privacy Appeal in the subject line; we handle it within the applicable deadline and explain available options for contacting the relevant regulator.

We do not discriminate against you for exercising applicable privacy rights. Withdrawal or deletion may nevertheless affect a service that genuinely requires the relevant information. Financial, safeguarding or legal records may be retained where lawful and necessary. Unsubscribing from marketing does not prevent essential messages about an existing donation or request.

You may also contact your relevant state attorney general or another competent privacy authority. Section 13 explains additional information where the GDPR applies.

13 Additional information where the GDPR applies

Where our processing falls within the territorial scope of the GDPR, One in Him Foundation International is the controller for its own processing. This section does not make the Dutch foundation responsible for the US organization's separate activities.

The legal bases are performance of agreements or requested pre-contractual steps for recurring donation arrangements, registrations and delivery of materials; compliance with legal obligations where they qualify under Article 6(1)(c) of the GDPR; consent for optional newsletters and uses requiring consent; and legitimate interests for necessary donation administration, answering requests, securing systems and handling complaints or legal claims. We assess and balance legitimate interests against your rights. For special category information, we also establish an applicable Article 9 exception, such as explicit consent for the specific use.

You may exercise the GDPR rights of access, correction, deletion, restriction, objection and portability where their conditions are met. You may withdraw consent at any time without affecting earlier lawful processing. An objection to direct marketing stops that use.

We respond without undue delay and within one month of receiving a GDPR rights request. Where permitted for a complex request, we may extend the period by up to two additional months, informing you within the first month and explaining why.

You may lodge a complaint with the competent data protection authority, including the authority in the EU/EEA country where you live or work or where an alleged infringement occurred. In the Netherlands, that is the Autoriteit Persoonsgegevens, autoriteitpersoonsgegevens.nl. You do not need to complete our complaints procedure first.

14 Updates

We update this statement when our activities or applicable requirements change. The current version is available on our website. We provide additional notice and obtain new consent where legally required. Changing the wording alone does not create new permission to use your information.